Engineered plywood, natural timber beauty

Armourpanel plywood panels combine the stunning beauty of native timbers with the rugged durability of a precision engineered structural product.

Exceptional strength and durability result from a special cross-ply manufacturing process. Multiple layers of hardwood sheets are bonded together to form a solid, stable board with the genuine beauty of forest timber – but with greater resistance to shrinkage than solid timber boards.

Armourpanel is Australia's strongest plywood – designed, tested and approved to tolerate extremes of heat and humidity and to resist shrinkage. Its tolerance of changes in ambient temperature and its toughness make it ideal as flooring in hard-wearing areas.

The durability of the bond and the natural durability of the hardwood veneers make Armourpanel the natural choice for applications requiring strength, durability, resilience, stability and impact resistance.

- Big River Timbers is a wholly Australian owned and operated company.
- Armourpanel is manufactured to Australian Standards.
- Manufactured under the Plywood Association of Australia's third party audited quality control program.
- Total hardwood construction.
- Superior strength and impact resistance.
- Durable Type B bond.
- Made entirely from plantation and regrowth timber.

Panels are available with a range of species as the face veneer, including Blackbutt, Flooded Gum, Spotted Gum, Sydney Blue Gum and Walnut.
